

State Wrap Up ~ Short Course 2026

Enthusiasm is contagious. It moves quietly at first—one voice that carries a little more energy, one person who believes a little more boldly—and then it begins to spread. Like a spark catching dry timber, genuine excitement ignites something in those nearby. It lifts posture, sharpens focus, and softens doubt. We are wired to respond to passion; when someone approaches a task, a goal, or even a simple conversation with wholehearted energy, it gives others silent permission to care just as deeply.

That initial voice and spark is obviously our owner, Dr. Ripple. Not only has he preached about this phrase, he has lived it and been the guiding light. Different coaches/leaders of the team have taken that spark and then been the spark to so many. It is the defining trait of the team, the swimmers, the families and the staff. Right now, we have an amazing staff that is bringing an overabundance of enthusiasm. You can do more than see it, you can feel it!

Looking on a grander scale, history and experience both show how powerful this force can be. Leaders who changed communities, coaches who transformed teams, teachers who awakened curiosity—all understood that skill alone is not enough. It is enthusiasm that turns effort into momentum. A room can shift in seconds when one person chooses optimism over indifference. Morale rises. Creativity flows. Courage strengthens. In contrast, apathy spreads just as easily, which is why choosing enthusiasm is not naïve—it is strategic. It sets a tone, and tone shapes outcomes.

To embrace the adage that enthusiasm is contagious is to accept responsibility for the atmosphere we create. Our attitude is never neutral; it either adds light or subtracts it. When we show up with belief, gratitude, and energy, we become catalysts for growth in others. We cannot always control circumstances, but we can control the spirit we bring into them. And often, that spirit is the very thing that transforms ordinary moments into extraordinary ones.

We celebrate not just the highlights below but the achievements of every single athlete. While records and wins are exciting, what matters most is the effort, dedication, and personal progress each of you has shown. Well done!

Now, we turn our focus to the upcoming Sectionals Championships in Justin, Texas. Best of luck to all twenty-eight competing athletes—we can't wait to see you be stars in the lone star state!
